When Should I Apply?

For most programs (those that do not involve special selection procedures) individuals are admitted on a first qualified, first served basis. You qualify for admission to a program once you have met all admission requirements.

We accept applications up to 12 months prior to the start date of a program. We will acknowledge your application within two weeks of receipt. If the program is full when you apply, your name will be placed on a waiting list, and you will be notified if space becomes available.

If there are more qualified applicants than seats in a program, those who are not accepted will have their names carried over to the next start date for that program.

The deadline for applications from international students without a study permit is May 1. The deadline for applications from international students with a study permit (valid through September of your program start year) is August 1.

Academic Requirements

Academic admission requirements printed in college calendars, brochures and on the website present the minimum acceptable prerequisites for each program.

Your transcripts must demonstrate equivalent education from your home country. See www.assiniboine.net/international for more information.

Special Selection Programs

For some programs, all applicants may be required to provide additional documentation, undergo testing, attend an orientation session, complete a home assignment and/or attend an interview. Where testing is required there is an additional fee.

These special selection requirements ensure that you have the additional skills and abilities you need to succeed in the program. Special selection criteria are listed in the college calendar, brochures and on our website.

Applications to these programs are not considered complete until individuals have met all special selection requirements.

Financial Assistance

At this time, Assiniboine Community College does not have any form of financial assistance for international students.

Notice of Disclosure of Personal Information to Statistics Canada

Statistics Canada is the national statistical agency. As such, Statistics Canada carries out hundreds of surveys each year on a wide range of matters, including education. It is essential to follow students across time and institutions to understand, for example, the factors affecting enrolment demand at post-secondary institutions. The increased emphasis on accountability for public investment means that it is also important to understand 'outcomes'. In order to carry out such studies, Statistics Canada asks all colleges and universities to provide data on students and graduates. Institutions collect and provide to Statistics Canada student identification information (student's name, student ID number, Social Insurance Number), student contact information (address and telephone number), student demographic characteristics, enrolment information, previous education and labour force activity. Under the Federal Privacy Act, individuals can request access to their own, individual information held in federal information banks, including those held by Statistics Canada. The Federal Statistics Act provides the legal authority for Statistics Canada to obtain access to personal information held by educational institutions. The information may be used only for statistical purposes, and the confidentiality provisions of the Statistics Act prevent the information from being released in any way that would identify the student. Students who do not wish to have their information used are able to ask Statistics Canada to remove their identifying information from the national database. Further information on the use of this information can be obtained from Statistics Canada's web site: www.statscan.ca or by writing to the Post-secondary Section, Centre for Education Statistics, 17th Floor, R.H. Coats Building, Tunney's Pasture, Ottawa, Canada, K1A 0T6.
