Dustin Bauer Land & Water Management Diploma

Beyond his funny and easy-going exterior, Dustin is an incredibly smart person that can engage on a wide range of topics not just limited to our courses, and has surprised me with his detailed knowledge in discussions around the environment, politics, and more — something that comes with a dedication to learn, as well as a lot of life experiences. Dustin always values people first, building good relationships with his classmates and coworkers.

As a student who has worked on multiple projects with him, Dustin is extremely easy to work with due to his ability to see the strengths in people and help us use them for the task at hand. All these things make Dustin a natural leader and someone that is, without a doubt, an asset to the college community and beyond. I truly believe Dustin will be going places, and it has been a pleasure working and learning alongside him.

- Finn Rachul, Student, Land & Water Management

Over the last two years, it has been an absolute joy and a pleasure teaching and getting to know Dustin. His strong personal interest in natural resource management was always evident in his positive attitude and exceptional course work. Dustin is a very competent individual with a strong work ethic and a desire to learn. During his tenure at Assiniboine, Dustin demonstrated a drive to develop a mastery of all his courses. His projects have shown competent analysis and attention to detail well supported by his effective research skills, which resulted in his ability to consistently produce professional industry quality reports and documents, all while maintaining a high grade point average.

Dustin has actively volunteered for several Assiniboine affiliated activities. From helping with Nature Conservancy Canada projects and judging for the Western Manitoba Science Fair, to being integral in assisting with the administration and registration desks and organizing and working the Assiniboine booth at the Manitoba Association of Watersheds annual conference, Dustin has shown pride and enthusiasm in representing the college.

Outside of school, Dustin is active in his home community of Roblin and demonstrates a strong commitment to his adopted Brandon community. In Roblin, he is a member of the Roblin Ag Society. In Brandon, Dustin volunteers for a variety of organizations. Dustin collects water samples locally through spring, summer, and fall for the Lake Winnipeg Foundation. He is also a Co-Coordinator for the Park Recreation Center Community

Garden where he helps with regular maintenance, assists patrons, and helped plant the community pollinator garden. Furthermore, he is actively involved with Sustainable Brandon where he will be helping to implement projects recently funded and has recently participated on public discussion panels and helped with events such as the garbage clean up in the Stanley Park neighborhood.

Lastly, I personally feel Dustin is completely deserving of this award because, as an instructor, he made teaching fun and enjoyable. Dustin encourages a positive learning environment. He would come to all classes with the desire to learn and his eagerness challenged and motivated instructors. I know Dustin will be a success at whatever the world throws at him over the course of his career. As an instructor, I will take personal pleasure in watching him become that success.
